What a winter we are having. Here it has been pretty mild. But I know in parts of the country it has been snowing record amounts. I hope PCA doesn't have record heat this year. And it is that time of the year to start thinking about PCA. You will find several articles in this newsletter concerning it. I have been asked by Pauline our Raffle Chairperson to consider donating a nice custom piece of poodle jewelry for the silent auction. So any of you that collect poodle jewelry please consider a donation for the club's silent auction.

This is our first edition that has gone computer. Although not without a bit of problem on my end. Computer problems, are the bane of modern existence I believe. Anyway, my new computer is now up and running and all my data transferred over. We have a new member application please have a look. There are plenty of brags and some interesting articles. Enjoy!!

job. She has years of experience and she knowledgeable and gentle with babies.

Based on the chatter I've seen on the list, I expect we'll be seeing lots of babies at the Showcase this year. I also hope that you will follow through and enter your Reds and Apricots in PCA. Show the world that we are proud of our Poodles. Their brains and bodies and temperaments are second to no other color! A win at PCA is a wonderful thing to shoot for, but in reality, PCA is about seeing and being seen. Please join me and enter your kids. I am very proud of mine and you should be too!

The ARPC is donating a Booster Bath to the PCA silent raffle and it will have a sign on it saying that it's from us. I negotiated an excellent price with Edge of Distinction Scissors and Supplies (they were doing business as Sett-R-Rite), please buy from them at PCA and whenever possible. I think we need a little more visibility in the Poodle World and nobody will blow our horn if we don't.

The 2007 show is PCA's 75th (Diamond) Anniversary and it promises to be a special one. The dates for PCA are June 9-16. The Showcase will be held on Monday, June 11, 2007. The Showcase schedule will be Brown; Apricot/Red; Silver, starting at 9:00 am.

This year there will be no grooming setups allowed around the ring. At the top of the escalator turn left. The walkway leading to the south end of the building (where the Down Escalator is located) will be reserved for grooming. The light is much better there than down that long hallway.

Starting this year, we will have posters and flyers available at each of the Salisbury hotels. If you have hotel reservations at any place other than the Ramada, please email me so I can send you a poster or flyers. I will be contacting the management at each of the hotels listed in the Premium List to get permission before you arrive.

William Penn Futurity-Barbara Burdick An Interesting Day at the Rainbow Bridge

William Penn Futurity

October is the William Penn Futurity, it is the last futurity in the county. The weather was clear and it was a beautiful day, the food was wonderful as usual and the poodles were also beautiful. Poodle puppies in all colors, black, white, blue, brown, red, silver, oh yes, apricot too.

The Grand Champion was Ch. Barclay Lyca Divine Design, (Fendi finished out of the bred by class as a puppy in 10 shows). Best Miniature was Barclay Lyca Sunny Side up, Logan is a 16 week old apricot mini who showed like he's a pro already, he is owned by me, Camille and Kirk Herrmann. Look for good things to come from him. Best toy puppy was Baliwick Billy the Kid, a little black boy who showed like he was born in the ring. He is owned by Pat Lorenz, Ianthe Bloomquest & me. Billy's sister was winners bitch at PCA, he is a repeat and will fill his sisters shoes. Watch for Billy next year. Best Standard was a Treetops white, very pretty and is owned by Diana Caulfield. I have to add that Diana's husband and son Billy did a wonderful job setting up and taking down.

Best Brood Bitch was Ch. Barclay Lyca Cast a Spell, Jodi was Grand Champion 2 years ago and now she's showing off her get, both puppies were very pretty. Logan's sister is owned by PSG member Constance Mood. Jodi is owned by Camile and myself. This is a famous show, over 50 years old, it is an honor to be a winner there. Just to be there is a wonderful experience, known for their food, no one goes home hungry. You can nominate your bitches for just $6.00 when you know they are in whelp. The whole entry will end up costing $12, not bad to win hundreds of dollars, not just the Grand champions win cash prizes but all the class places as well.

You can go to www.wmpennpoodleclub.com click on Futurity and take a tour to see how it works. Also look at the past pictures and the fun we have. It's a nice dog show weekend, Hatboro Dog Show, 2days Devon Dog show and Montg. Terrier show Rainbow Bridge is a place of both peace and anticipation as departed pets await their beloved owners. There are plenty of things to keep them contented while they wait: trees you can't get stuck in, endless meadows, splashing streams, thickets perfect to hide in for pounce-attack games. But one day the residents noticed some rather...unusual newcomers arrive. The koalas and the kangaroos slipped in rather quietly, but then came the bearded dragons, the skinks and the goannas. The influx of snakes startled an entire family of cats up a tree. Pythons, cobras, tiger snakes, brown snakes and even fierce snakes. There were so many at one point, it seemed the ground itself was alive with writhing. A burly wombat shouldered his way through the crowd and plopped down in a shady spot, barely missing a Jack Russell terrier who yapped indignantly as he abandoned his position. And then the crocodiles showed up. Finally, a Great Dane managed to get up enough nerve to approach one of the reptilian giants. "Um...excuse me," he said hesitantly. "But why are you all here?" The croc dropped her jaw and laughed. "Same as you, mate," she said. "Waitin' for someone who loved us."

The dogs, cats, gerbils and other "typical pets" looked at each other in confusion, then at the plethora of weird, ugly and downright deadly creatures assembled. Who on Earth could possibly love some of those faces? "I see him!" shouted a green mamba from his vantage point in one of the trees. A cacophony of squeeks, hisses, bellows and roars erupted as the mob surged forward toward a lone human walking across the field toward the bridge. The other animals managed to catch a glimpse of him before he was overwhelmed by the crowd. "CRIKEY!" he shouted joyously right before he was bowled over by the wombat. "Well I'll be," said a Persian as she tidied up her fur. "It's that Aussie my human liked to watch on TV. Had to be the craziest human on the whole planet."

"Oh, please," remarked an echidna as he hurried by. "Is it really that crazy to passionately love something God made?"

In memory of Steve Irwin

Letter From Pauline Branca

The Holidays are but a memory and we are all busy with plans for the future. It is not too early to think of the 2007 PCA Red Apricot Showcase. Needed as always are You + You + You. In other words all of you. This year, the show can be a great success or a dismal failure. If we all pitch in and do our part as a responsible Club Member, it will be a dynamite match.

There is a misconception among some members that if you show your poodles at this match you are excused from any work to put this show together. I beg to differ. After you show your beautiful poodles there is the silent auction. Needed are three people for this task. There is also a great need for assistance with cleaning up our area after the show. We also need two ticket sellers; people to set up the raffle and silent auction tables; people to man the tables (you select your time slot). We need three members to be assistants to Dolly with entries. She was swamped last year; I did not see her get the support that she required. I was working for the other club that I also belong to.

Please remember Dear Members that this is Your Club, Your Show. The only annual Red Apricot Club show. Please let us all work together with integrity and pride for our Red Apricot Club. It is time to step up to the plate. Remember to bring a poodle-related item for the silent auction and raffle tables. Perhaps this year we will be able to donate more generously to poodle research. There is so much father we need to go for our beloved breed, The Poodle.

Please call me at (610)279-6712 for your input and advice on this event. Do you have ideas? Yes, I am sure you do. At some time I will try to get in touch with each and every one of you as well.

Cordially,

Pauline Branca
Chairperson PCA 2007
